DOESN'T LIKE NEWSPAPER REPORTS OF THE HEARING

Judge Maginnis of Defense Complains of Papers and District Attorney Halverson Is of Same Mind and Cites Sheets That Aren't Telling Facts as Brought Out.

The case against Councilman Fred W. Chambers occupied all day yesterday in the district court. The session closed with the accuser, J. D. Skeen, under fire of cross-examination. At the opening of the session the matter of the newspaper reports of the proceedings was called up by Attorney W. L. Magianis for the defense, who stated to the court that the papers were not properly reporting the proceed-Attorney W. L. Magiants for the who stated to the court that the papers were not properly reporting the proceedings and he thought the court should instruct them on this point. The idea advanced by Mr. Magianes found a ready second on the part of the district attoring, who stated that he would be glad to have the court take such a step and rehave the court take and rehave the court take and the court take and the court take and rehave the court take a step and rehave the court take and the court take and rehave the court take a step and rehave the court take and rehave in the Glasmann papers regarding the case that was in no way favorable to them. The court asked that the gentlemen bring the objectionable articles into court and he would then consider the matter. This request was complied with by the district attorney, who handed several objectionable articles clipped from the Standard-Examiner to the court at the opening of the afternoon session. Mr. Maginnis took the stand at that time, that he did not wish to see any one punished at all. The newspaper men were his friends, he said, and he did not bring leaves the said, and he did not bring leaves the said and he said, and he did not bring leaves the said and he said, and he did not bring leaves the said and he said and he would surely prosecute Councilmen. ed at all. proceedings was found in the testimony offered by Attorney J. D. Skeen, who is the plaintiff in the present proceeding. Mr. Skeen was put on the stand after the defendant.

There were some sharp passages between the opposing counsel during the proceedings and in one instance there were charges of one side trying to bring politics into the case and the other side charged that there was an attempt to bring the charge that there was an attempt to the case. Indeed, the witness said that Chambers stated that he was the last to draw his warrant for 1904 and that he only drew it after the other councilmen had taunted him and charged him with having "cold feet." Chambers insisted, so Skeen stated, that they were friends and that Skeen could not have any malice or feelings of anger toward him. Mr. Skeen stated that he called the defendant's attention to the resolution of 1904 and pointed out that although the warrant was drawn on the same, that it was not drawn until August, 1905. He said that he brought the action taken by the council and he thought if should be made public, therefore he called upon the councilmen through the colupon the councilmen through the col-mans of the papers to refund the money and the men to resign.

The most important part of yesterday's and his attended to the said, and he did not bring his friends, he said, and he did not bring has a possible and his attended to the would surely prosecute Councilmen Craig and Moyes. mms of the papers to refund the money and the men to resign.

Wouldn't Heed Warning.

This the councilmen disregarded and they failed to refund the money. He then said that the Standard-Examiner had scoffed at him and made light of the request, and that inasmuch as Chambers was connected with the papers referred to, he must have seen the article. This compelled him to act sooner on the matter than perhaps he would have otherwise done. He maintained that there was absolutely no malice in bringing the action, as he had none against any of the defendants. He stated that the reason why he had brought the action against that Chambers first was because he discovered while inspecting the city's books that Chambers had not served on the board of equalization and review during 1905. He said further that he was closely connected with Francis and Glasmann in the publication of the Standard-Examiner, and their utter contempt for him in the publication of the Standard-Examiner, and their utter contempt for him in the principal that the company is to be capitalized for between subscriptions that have been made to the subscriptions that have and their utter contempt for him in the articles published made it necessary that he bring this action first, and that while he had only brought three actions, that there would be two others filed within a short time.

In response to a query why he did not prosecute the other men who were members of the council at that time, witness stated that there was a statute that gave the county attorney the right to prosecute them for the misappropriation of public funds. He had called the county attorney's attention to this fact, but that officer stated that he did not care to prosecute. Mr. Skeen stated that he did not care to prosecute. Mr. Skeen stated that he did not care to prosecute. Mr. Skeen stated that Mr. Halverson said he did not like to proceed in the case as he had personal feelings against the defendant and others on the

The writing was hardly that of a feminine hand, and the note appeared to have been written laboriously and with much blotting; furthermore, the penmanship seemed to be strangely familiar. strangely familiar to his teacher. The note read as follows:
"Dear Teacher—Please excuse Tomy for not coming to school yestiddy, he cudnot come. I tore my pants. Mrs. Mulligan."

BY THE DRILL SERGEANT. (Philadelphia Ledger.)

He was a raw "recruity,"
But not for very long.
For he was promptly roasted
Whenever he did wrong.
